HOAGLAND'S
NEW PATENT SHAFT COUPLING!
W. E. COOPER

HAS PURCHASED THE RIGHT FOR THIS County of the above Patent and will hereafter use it in the construction of all the Vehicles manufactured at his extensive

Carriage Factory,
Corner of Second and Morrison Streets

He respectfully refers to the following
CARD.

Having examined the New Patent Shaft Coupling invented by H. R. Hoagland we feel pleasure in informing the public that in our opinion it is the safest and best method of connecting shafts or tongues to all vehicles that has ever been used

It fastens without bolt or screw and is therefore easily and speedily separated It rests on Gutta Percha so as to be entirely free from the rattling sound which so often disturbs restless horses It is easily changed so that the shafts or tongue may be detached in an instant, and is convenient safe and secure

It is easy to change to this style of coupling any buggy or other vehicle now in use and with small expense We have come to the conclusion to use this new invention ourselves and recommend its use in all cases We consider it far superior to the Brewster Patent heretofore considered the best in use

Chief Justice Chase and the Supreme Court

From the New York Times.

No surer ground of suspicion as to the present relations of Chief Justice Chase to the loyal spirit which put down the rebellion can be presented than his defense by the Journal of Commerce which during the war opposed not only the legal tender act but also the act which authorized the raising of soldiers by a draft

Among the friends of the Chief Justice we hear it urged in many quarters that Gov. Hoffman is the most prominent candidate for the Presidency, that as the time arrives for a nomination it will be discovered that his support of the Erie Railway election fraud will render him ineligible among honest men and that then the Chief Justice will be accepted by the Democracy Although Gen Grant had been nominated for the Presidency in the spring of 1868 yet up to the 4th of July of that year Chief Justice Chase was a candidate against him and it is a fair presumption that if he was then willing to oppose the election of the great soldier who had been the chief instrument, under Providence, of accomplishing success in war, the same disregard of propriety, duty and honor will make him a candidate in 1872

When [illegible] McCulloch and others, [illegible] succeeded in composing the difficulty which alienated Mr Lincoln from Gov Chase, the latter declared that if elevated to the post of Chief Justice his ambition would be satisfied But the failure of the Republicans to nominate him in 1868 turned him toward the Democracy, and proved that his ambition instead of being [illegible] was active, and accompanied with the [illegible] facility of disposition The change from supporting the legal tender act as Secretary of the Treasury, to opposing it as Chief Justice, was doubtless produced by the same influence which turned him from the door of the Republican Convention to that of its enemies It is possible that a deep conviction of error may have brought him into harmony with the Democracy of the [illegible], with the Secessionists who held court in Kentucky, and with the Journal of Commerce, but whether the change be the result of new views or of old unchecked aspirations is a question which must remain unanswered.

Our contemporary supposes that it finds in the letter of J W Wallace, Reporter of the Supreme Court an answer to what we have lately said in noticing the decision of the Court. As the Court was constituted during the long period when it was presided over by Chief Justice Marshall, it secured not only the highest respect of the people of the United States, but of jurists throughout the world It was then an august tribunal No object of personal ambition affected the Chief Justice. In the disposition of questions of constitutional law the spirit which animated this great and pure Judge was the very best. No thought of pleasing a political party prevailed, the sole object was to establish this [illegible] government on the solid [illegible] of the Constitution intended. And the Court, in McCulloch vs the State of Maryland and others, held in 1819, that the Government of the Union though limited in its powers, is supreme in its sphere of action and that if the end be legitimate and within the scope of the Constitution, "all the means which are appropriate, which are plainly adapted to that end, and which are not prohibited may constitutionally be employed to carry it into effect."

The Court as lately constituted—two [illegible] existing—overthrew this [illegible] rule of construction, fettered Congress with a [illegible] which the framers of the Constitution [illegible] apply, and stripped the Government [illegible] means of warfare and [illegible] Mr Wallace states that he cannot recall a case involving a great constitutional question where the Court was nearer to disability, and [illegible] and Judges Nelson, [illegible] agreed upon the [illegible] irrevocably and perfectly As the decision was [illegible] after Judge Grier had left the [illegible] in view of his resignation [illegible] wholly incapable of deciding. The disregard of [illegible] in saying that the decision was [illegible] and irrevocably agreed upon, is very [illegible] of that tribunal

By reason of the resignation of Judge Grier, and the omission to appoint a Judge in the place of Justice Wayne, two [illegible] at the time of the decision [illegible] The minority consisted of three Judges, so that the Court would now stand five to four. If the appointments—Judges Strong and Bradley [illegible] not attended with the bad mischief which followed that of the Chief Justice. It is the more competent for the Court as it is now constituted, if a proper case shall [illegible] before it, to restore to the Government [illegible] of the United States [illegible] for conducting war which is essential to [illegible], and particularly now, when to conduct a great war on the basis of the [illegible] would be simply impossible.

Unavailing Protests.

The Albany Democrat of Saturday last is devoted mainly to protests against the utterances of its party in favor of repudiation. It is the only Democratic paper which has had courage to rebuke this infamous proposition. The position it takes is squarely against that assumed by all the authorized mouth pieces of the party, including Slater, Kelly and the Herald, not to mention Fay, Thayer, McArthur, the Oregon City Enterprise, the Eugene Guard, the Jacksonville News, and the Democratic organ in Eastern Oregon. But the Democrat, though protesting against this odious doctrine, cannot quite clear itself from the imputation of disingenuousness. It insists that the fault is not with the platform, but with those Democrats who interpret it to mean repudiation. No one, however, can fairly say that the eighth resolution is capable of any other interpretation than that given it by the Herald, by Slater, Kelly and others. And when the Democrat calls repudiation a "pestilential abortion," it takes a stand directly against those whom the Albany Convention authorized to speak for the party. "It is a melancholy reflection," says that paper, "that the committee on resolutions ever reported the eighth resolution as they did,—but for their mistake the Democratic party is not and cannot be held responsible." Why not responsible when the Convention deliberately adopted a resolution equally as strong and clear in its demand for repudiation as the original eighth resolution reported by the committee? Why not responsible when the Convention nominated for the various offices men who, before their nomination, pronounced for repudiation, and who since their nomination argue and contend for the same doctrine?" When the Democrat says that "those who are trying to bring discredit upon Democratic principles by loading our platform down with false and preposterous assumptions will find ere long that they are sowing the wind and inevitably must reap the whirlwind," it places itself wholly outside of the party. It speaks truth, but practically shuts itself out from the present Democratic organization. That paper also protests against the Fay letter, saying:

> A communication containing some very undemocratic and absurd propositions has been published in a Portland Republican newspaper, with Mr. Fay's name appended. If Mr. Fay or any Democrat had determined to publish a political letter, he would have done so through the columns of a Democratic newspaper. Of course the thing is of very doubtful genuineness. If it is not a forgery it ought to be.

Here again, the Democrat while disowning repudiation and "compulsory disgorgement," is extremely disingenuous. It wants to convey the impression that Mr. Fay's letter appeared only in a Republican paper, and that its authenticity is therefore doubtful. We believe, however, that almost every Democratic paper in the State, except the one at Albany, has published the letter and warmly approved it. It not only appeared in a "Republican newspaper published at Portland," but it also appeared in the Herald, with editorial comments, in which the doctrines of the letter were very highly commended. Other Democratic papers have characterized the utterances of this letter as the key note of the canvass. The Democrat knows that the letter is genuine, notwithstanding its denial; that it was written with a design that it should be read at the Democratic ratification in this city at which Mr. Fay had been invited to speak, and that as he was unable to remain to participate in the meeting he left this letter to serve in the stead of the speech he had expected to deliver.

In another place the Democrat takes exceptions to the following extract from the Oregon City Enterprise, and publishes a long article against it:

> But now in regard to the equitable adjustment of the national debt proposed by the Democratic party. This equitable adjustment means just this: It means to investigate and ascertain how much is due the bondholder for his principal and interest, and then pay that amount and no more. But if, for instance, a bondholder has paid four hundred dollars in coin for one thousand dollars in greenbacks, and with these greenbacks has purchased a thousand dollar bond, and now claims under the sanction of the Republican party that the thousand dollars and the interest thereon should be paid in coin, pay him back his four hundred dollars in coin, together with lawful interest thereon, but no more.

In commenting on this the Democrat says that "there is no limit to the preposterous deductions that may be made from such a proposition," and proceeds to illustrate in this way:

> Suppose an individual purchased $2,000 in greenbacks at 40 cents, and with $1,000 bought a bond, retaining the remainder of the first transaction in his keeping, would there not be just as much—rather just as little—fairness in compelling him to surrender his remaining $1,000 in greenbacks upon the payment of $400 in coin as there would be in compelling the surrender of the bond upon the payment of the same sum? May you not with equal propriety compel him to relinquish his $1,000 in legal tenders by paying the $400 that he gave for them? Since greenbacks have advanced from 40 to 90 cents, is the Government to rob holders of five ninths of them? Or, suppose, in the meantime, the bond has passed into the hands of some innocent purchaser for a consideration equal to its face; is the possessor to be subject to confiscation? Or will you go back to the original purchaser and compel him to "disgorge?" And if so, please edify us with a statement of your proposed modus operandi.

These, indeed, be knotty questions. We have been asking such through the OREGONIAN almost daily ever since the Albany platform came out, and have as yet had no answer. In the same spirit is the following which is also taken from the Democrat's reply to the Enterprise:

> A government that would speculate in the depreciation of its own currency is not likely to inspire the world with much confidence. A government that would thus defraud its creditors and dishonor itself would inevitably survive the respect of honorable men and yet not survive above a few generations.

These are vigorous and energetic protests, but they are wholly unavailing. The propositions stated by the Enterprise, to which the Democrat demurs, are those of the Democratic party as now constituted and led, and no one whom that party has authorized to speak for it disowns them. On the contrary the State organ of the party,—(the Herald,)—the candidate of the party for Congress,—(Mr. Slater,)—and the recognized champion of the party for the Senate,—(Col. Kelly),—all concur in the view taken by the Enterprise, and even go further. For instance, Col. Kelly, in his speech here declared that if the bondholder would not accept the proposition in the form in which Mr. Slater and himself had stated it, (which was substantially the form in which it is stated in the extract from the Enterprise), then the whole debt should be repudiated outright. A day or two prior to the ratification meeting the Herald, speaking for the party, interpreted the eighth resolution in this way:

> For instance, the grasping speculators bought bonds say for four hundred dollars that call for one thousand. That is to say the currency with which the bonds were purchased was worth only about forty cents on the dollar. Now the bonds so purchased for four hundred dollars each for one thousand, and interest has been paid on the full amount. It will thus be seen that the bondholder has been drawing interest on six hundred dollars more than he advanced. This is manifest injustice to the tax paying people. What the Democracy want is justice for the people. They say, as the bondholders have been drawing interest on more than they advanced, they have been drawing interest on an exorbitant bonus. The settlement proposed is one based on equity. Let the amount really advanced by the bondholders be ascertained and also the amount they have received as interest on the principal and bonus. Then if the interest unjustly paid on the bonus in any given case be found equal to the amount paid in the first place with interest thereon at legal rates, let that bond be cancelled.

The Democrat will perceive that this proposition of the Herald's includes that of the Enterprise, the only difference being that the Enterprise has not pushed the doctrine of repudiation by "equitable adjustment" so far as the Herald has done. The Enterprise would simply pay forty cents on the dollar and make an end of it, but the Herald would subject the forty cents to various deductions on account of "interest paid on bonus," etc., so that there would be nothing to pay and the bond would be cancelled. Now as the Democrat has objected to the manner in which the Enterprise has put the case will it say whether it accepts or rejects the Herald's statement of it? It cannot censure the Enterprise without censuring the Herald even more severely. And let it know that when it censures the Herald it also censures Mr. Slater, Col. Kelly, Mr. Fay, and every other Democrat who has as yet spoken in behalf of the platform and the party. For the article in the Herald from which the above extract is taken was the product of a consultation among the leading men of the party who assembled here to determine what course should be pursued with reference to the eighth resolution. It appeared on Sunday morning, the 27th March, and on the evening of the following day (Monday) Mr. Slater spoke at Oro Fino Theater, and repeated all the propositions contained in the Herald's article and even adopted its phraseology, thus showing that there had been a concerted agreement as to what course should be taken. Col. Kelly followed in the same strain. The Democrat is therefore protesting against the declared policy of its party. That party is committed irrevocably to the doctrines which the Democrat denounces;—it is committed to repudiation, to a policy of fraud and dishonor. The only wonder is that the Democrat can continue to support a party, the infamous tendency of whose leading measures it so clearly points out and so strongly condemns.

The "Herald" on Finance.

In one of its lucubrations on the subject of finance the Herald proceeds to argue that it was not the depression of the public credit but the great depreciation of greenbacks for which bonds were exchanged, that caused the Government to realize for its stocks a less sum in gold than it is now called on to pay for their redemption. We have heard of a distinction without a difference; but this is neither a distinction nor a difference. The rise and fall in the price of gold, the effect of which was seen in the fluctuations of paper, represented exactly the changing conditions of public credit. When prospects looked favorable the public funds would improve; but when the rebels achieved any great success and the war seemed likely to be prolonged indefinitely, gold would go up, and greenbacks and bonds would of course take the opposite direction. Every one can verify this by his own recollection. After trying to account for the low rate of bonds during the war by attributing it to the depreciation of greenbacks instead of to the depression of the public credit (as if there were any difference), the Herald goes on to say:

> This accounts for the present size of the national debt more reasonably and more creditably for the people, than the idea that they at any time lost faith in the Government to such an extent as to discount its credit so fearfully. We are willing to admit that there were times during the war when money was exceedingly hard to get, and yet the Government had to have it, but we feel assured that generally means for carrying on national affairs could have been obtained much more cheaply than they were obtained by the party in power.

These statements come with a very poor grace from a Democratic paper. It will be remembered that during the whole struggle the Democratic party was continually assailing the credit of the Government and declaring the debt never would and never could be paid. The same persons who want to repudiate one-half or two-thirds of it now, kept up a perpetual din during the war about the accumulation of the debt, and steadily asserted and croaked the Government never would be able to discharge its obligations. These persistent attacks on the public credit by a powerful party had very much to do with increasing the timidity of capitalists and embarrassing the finances of the country. From the beginning to the end of the contest the Democratic party had no faith in the Government. It was its continual assertion that the rebellion never could be put down, and that the debt never could be paid. Yet it now comes in and censures the party that carried the country safely through, because public credit was not better during the struggle! It persistently declared that the man who advanced money to the Government to carry on the war was a fool, and that he would never get a cent back; yet it now finds fault with the "party in power" because it did not "obtain more cheaply the means for carrying on national affairs" during that crisis! Your repudiating Democratic politician can always find ways to turn.

Another consideration here presents itself. The Herald censures its political opponents because they were unable to get money to carry on the war except by discounting the credit of the Government. No nation at a great crisis in its affairs, and with a terrible war on its hands, ever did borrow money without being forced to accept such discount, but let that pass. The point we make here is this: Suppose the country accepts the miscalled theory of "equitable adjustment" by which one-half, and perhaps the whole, debt would be repudiated. Another war arises and the Government must again have immense sums of money. How and where will it borrow it? It could not get a dollar. Would not the Democratic party, after treating the present public debt in the way they propose cut a great figure in trying to borrow more? In case of a new rebellion or of an attack by great foreign powers, would not this party of brilliant financial ideas have a good time raising money for the demands of war?

The Herald complains because the Republican party did not borrow money for the war on better terms. Let the Democratic party get control of the Government and carry out the propositions of the Albany platform, and it could never obtain a loan on any terms whatever. The credit of the Government would be utterly ruined; and, deprived of the means of raising money for the emergencies of war, the country would be completely disarmed and at the mercy both of internal and foreign foes.

Editorial Notes.

We publish to-day an article containing several extracts from the Albany Democrat, which have in them many just and commendable sentiments. Such utterances show decided progress in a Democratic newspaper. A few more steps will carry that paper entirely off the dishonorable platform which its party has constructed.

"While Chinamen wash, cook and wait on table," says the Herald, "hundreds of white women who would like to work are driven by want into a life of shame." Is this true? Look at it. The rate paid for Chinese servants here is thirty dollars a month. Any woman "who would like to work" can get as much. Does the competition of Chinese servants at this high rate drive "women who would like to work" into a "life of shame?" The idea is preposterous. Those women who in this western country accept a life of shame accept it because they are of that class who will not work at any price. They accept it as a refuge from work; not because there is no work to do.

We have paid during the past year about ninety million dollars of our national debt. Bonds amounting to this sum have been purchased by the Government and placed in the sinking fund, where the interest is paid regularly upon them, which interest is in turn used for the purchase of more bonds. If we continue this operation at the same rate as now we shall wholly extinguish the debt in ten and a-half years. But no doubt it will be thought advisable to reduce the taxes still further and not pay the debt so rapidly. In this case we shall be a few years more about it, but the child is now born who will see the whole debt paid off before he attains his majority.

Some of the Democratic papers are jubilating over the supposition that Congress will neglect to pass an act to enforce the Fifteenth Amendment, and that colored men in consequence cannot vote. There is no need for excitement on this subject. Such an act no doubt will be passed, simply to prevent any question from being raised; but colored men have the same right to vote without it that they would with it. In other words, such an act is not strictly necessary to enable them to exercise the elective franchise. The Amendment secures them in their right and the Constitution expressly declares that the Courts in every State shall be bound by its provisions, anything in the Constitution or laws of any State to the contrary notwithstanding. This secures the right of the colored voter, and judges of election who should refuse to allow him to vote would do it at the peril of an action for damages. It is noticeable that though no law has been passed to enforce the Fifteenth Amendment, colored men in New Jersey, California, and other States, are being registered the same as whites.

IDAHO.

Judge L. O. Stearns, of Eastern Oregon, was in Boise City on his return from the Atlantic States, on the 7th inst.

The Boise Chronicle, of the 9th, says Prof. Maximillian was robbed last Wednesday night, of about $40 worth of his wardrobe.

The Odd Fellows of Idaho City will give a ball on the 26th, the anniversary of the introduction of the order into the United States.

Mining operations in the Camp at Centerville, Boise county, are about commencing. Several of the smaller wet weather ditches are being opened out and put in readiness. The large ditches will probably not be opened for two or three weeks yet. The miners at Boston on Grimes' creek, are perhaps further ahead in their preparations than any of their neighbors. A general confidence in a fine season's work is felt by everybody and the people are happy.

DIED:

On Saturday, March 26, 1870, after a brief illness, Lewis Lincoln, youngest son of Walter and Jane Pomeroy, aged 1 year 11 months and 20 days.

"So fair, so pure this little gem,
That angel came to see;
And seeing, bore him home with them,
Their angel child to be.

No painful recollections rise,
His morn, it shone so blest,
And ere a cloud had dimmed its skies,
Sweet lamb, he is at rest.

And even when cast down apart,
In agony we wept,
There thrills within the stricken heart,
This thought, that ne'er shall sleep—

That folded in those angel arms—
From every sorrow free—
A little bright-winged seraph child
For us waits lovingly."

St. Vincent Society.—At the conclusion of the singing chorus last evening, at the musical and literary entertainment given for the benefit of the St. Vincent de Paul Society, Mr. S. J. McC[illegible], President, addressed the audience upon the subject of charity, and in explanation of the origin and objects of the Society in Portland. He said he felt it to be a pleasant duty to discharge the task allotted him and prefaced his remarks with an allusion to the works of charity—saying that whatever religious differences may exist in the minds of those whom he saw about him, whatever barriers may separate churches, denominations or sects from each other—there is one virtue which annihilates all distinctions, one object which surmounts every barrier, one chord which vibrates in every heart, uniting all in a common bond of brotherhood, one communion, into which not only the ahest of every Christian church may enter, but where also the skeptic and the infidel, [illegible] the Mohommedan, the Pagan and the savage, may find fellowship—that virtue, that object, that chord, that communion is charity. The broad platform of human charity is the one which people of every form of government, every nationality, may stand upon as equals. Tradition teaches it; nations extol it, [illegible] commends it, and promises great rewards to all those practicing its beautiful precepts. From the days of Confucius, charity has held foremost of all the virtues for human good wherever taught by the sages. The speaker glanced through the pages of the World's history from the dawn of the Christian era, showing the great number of illustrious persons who have devoted themselves to the work of charity, and among them named St. Vincent of Paul, whose name the speaker said may sound strangely in the ears of many present, and although the name may be unknown to many among us, he has left behind him memorials more durable than pillars of [illegible], for churches and hospitals have been [illegible] the world over, to his memory. On [illegible] the address was [illegible] brief as [illegible] which St. Vincent enrolled [illegible] he organized, the reforms which he [illegible] of themselves prove sufficient [illegible] St. Vincent was born in 1576, in a small village at the foot of the Pyrenees which divides France from Spain. His education was completed at the University of [illegible], and he was the recipient of Holy Orders in 1600. A few months after these events he was captured by some Algerine pirates while on a voyage from Marseilles to Narbonne, and was kept [illegible] as a slave for two years. He [illegible] converting his master to Christianity, and in 1607 both escaped to France. [illegible] Vincent of Paul devoted [illegible] the organization and perfection of the [illegible] which originated in his benevolent [illegible] the Sisters of Charity, the Congregation [illegible] the Hospital for Foundlings, and [illegible] institutions for the relief of [illegible] were established by St. Vincent [illegible] in his 85th year, on the 27th [illegible] 1660. In 1737 he was canonized [illegible] XII. Thus, continued the [illegible] will be seen that the great object in [illegible] we have chosen for our [illegible] charity, in word [illegible] every avenue. In all these [illegible] that our local society will follow [illegible] the question of creed [illegible] that the gaunt hand of [illegible] the widow or orphan is all the [illegible] and whether those to be relieved [illegible] household of faith, or to those [illegible] are told are in our Fa[illegible] never inquire—believing as we [illegible] knows neither creed nor country. [illegible] has been organized but a short [illegible] little known. All its operations [illegible] upon the voluntary offerings [illegible] they have, under the providence of God, been able already to extend [illegible] and in the [illegible] they design to per[illegible] The speaker paid [illegible] to those present who [illegible] the Society by their [illegible] and assured them that [illegible] can be spent for the dispensing [illegible] In concluding he [illegible] the organization [illegible] might lead to the establishment [illegible] Hospital in Portland. [illegible] nearly every city in the Union has [illegible] dedicated to St. Vincent, [illegible] no reason why Portland should [illegible] Why should we ask our sick [illegible] pauper's refuge, and fill pauper's [illegible] encouraged by the number in [illegible] and hoped that the ef[illegible] might be united [illegible] attended. The U S Circuit Court will meet this morning at ten A M

About 100 Chinamen left yesterday at an early hour Their destination was the mines east of Oregon City, near the foot of the Cascades

A lecture will be delivered at Philharmonic Hall, on Tuesday evening of next week, by Mr G P Riley, to commence at seven o'clock on the subject of "Colored Citizens and the Ballot Box" Admission, 50 cts

Request Granted.—We have received a request, signed spectators, to insert the following

We were present at the Mount Zion School House Sunday afternoon, the 17th inst, and heard Prof White speak on the subject of Light and Darkness and would like to hear the same discourse repeated in this city and respectfully request the Professor to repeat the same at his earliest convenience. If this meets his approval a suitable place will be provided

Painful Accident.—Last evening a young lad, nine or ten years of age, son of J P O Lownsdale, was severely injured while playing base ball in the upper part of the city He carelessly approached the batter, who accidentally struck him a severe blow on the point of the nose with the ball club, breaking the bone, and also knocking out his teeth and mashing in the roof of the mouth. Dr Watkins was called to dress the injuries.

The Minnesota Bed Bottoms.—Having tested the bed bottoms manufactured by Jansen & Rathlefsen, corner of Fourth and Morrison streets, we wish to record our preference for it over any other kind of a bed that man requires to sleep upon They are, good, easy, healthful, "just the thing," and cost less than one half the price of the most ordinary skeleton spring mattress

Orphanage.—We understand that the large frame building being erected on Mill street, at the crossing of Fifth, and now about ready to finish, interior, is being constructed by the Sisters of the Most Holy Names, as an orphanage and boys' school. The building is two stories in hight, and is of ample dimensions to adapt it fully for the purpose for which it is intended

Ready for Shipping.—The new bell manufactured at the Eagle Works in this city, for the M. E. Church of Eugene City, was in front of Mr. Myer's place of business on First street, ready for shipment up the river It was highly commented upon by all who saw it.

Arrested.—A man named Sam Nevin was arraigned yesterday before Recorder Anderson for having passed a counterfeit $5 gold coin upon a Mr. Hildreth, in a saloon down town His case was continued until this morning

Spring Fever.—This disease, so common in all parts of the world about the season of the year when plants and vegetation begin to rise, has driven hundreds of our best citizens out of doors within two or three days past.

Prof. Simpson's Lecture.—This evening at Philharmonic Hall, Prof. Simpson, by request, will repeat his lecture on George Peabody. This concludes the course for the benefit of the Young Men's Christian Association.

Water, Water.—The sprinkling carts were out yesterday laying the dust on our principal business streets

Work Begun.—Work was again commenced on the Government buildings in this city yesterday forenoon.

The Circuit Court for Columbia county will be opened at St. Helens, by Judge Upton this morning.

WASHINGTON TERRITORY.

The Real Estate Gazette, published at Walla Walla, has the following Spring trade is opening under the most favorable auspicies. Four large pack trains were being loaded at one time for the different mines, at the warehouses of I. T Reese and Jordon & Co.

Schwabacher Brothers & Co. are preparing a large quantity of goods for shipment at their warehouse in the eastern part of the city. Goods are daily arriving for other leading houses of the place, which command a good trade.

Messrs. Kyger & Co., having made successful experiments in the purchase of valley products for the mines, will engage permanently in that branch of trade, in connection with their mercantile business.

Waitsburg situated 18 miles east of Walla Walla City, is fast assuming the proportions and appearance of a town It possesses considerable trade, water privileges for manufacturing purposes, and a prosperous and intelligent community in and around it.

Mr D. J. Schnebley will have his new mill in operation in another week The seven flouring mills in the valley will have a capacity for making about six hundred barrels of flour per day, besides doing a large amount of other work for the accommodation of the farmers

Walla Walla City supports two high schools and from two to three ordinary schools

From the Register we learn that Wm Huntington was the choice of Cowlitz County Convention as Joint Councilman for Clarke, Cowlitz, Wahkiakum and Pacific counties.

J S Hunsington was elected to attend the Territorial Convention

The county ticket is Joint Representative for Cowlitz and Wahkiakum, C G Caples, Probate Judge, Benj Huntington, Sheriff, J Poland, Auditor O Olsen, Treasurer, N Stone Assessor, S Adams.

Clarke County Convention

The Union Republican Convention of Clarke County, W. T., met at Vancouver last Saturday H G Struve was chosen Chairman and Byron Daniels Secretary The following persons were chosen delegates to the Territorial Convention G W Maxwell, S W Beall, L. Farnsworth C C Stiles and H G Struve The convention then nominated the following excellent county ticket

Joint Councilman, Upper District, F S Joselyn, Lower District M R Hathaway Representatives to the Legislature G W Maxwell, S D Maxson, G H Stewart, J A Kearns Pro pate Judge Jeremiah Hathaway County Commissioners James Burke, Joseph Goddard, Sr, Edward Gibbons Sheriff Geo Dugan Assessor William Simmons County Auditor Aug A Schaeben County Treasurer Andrew Riggs Coroner J L Tobey County School Superintendent A S Nicholson County Surveyor A McAdrow County Central Committee I Muller, G W Maxwell J hn W Tate, Levi Douthit H G Struve G W Jones Jackson Lewis Sylvester Pouse C C Stiles E M Hall

The delegates to the Territorial Convention were instructed to vote for Hon. S Garfield first last and all the time Everything passed off quietly and most, if not all, of the Republicans are very confident of success in the coming campaign

Do you young men who revel in fashion and wear store clothes [illegible] prudent men who buy goods to get the worth of your cash you all men who buy goods to last the remainder of your lives, or any other man or boy who wants to buy the cheapest and best clothing, go to Kohn & Fishel, who have just opened the largest stock of Gents' Clothing and Furnishing Goods in the city They have all the late styles of spring goods and propose to sell at rates that will please everybody

So simple a child can operate it so perfect all are delighted with it—the Grover & Baker Sewing Machine Wm. Curran & Co Agents.

OREGON

The Polk county Republican says the snow on the Coast Range of mountains is about five feet deep

The ratification meeting held by the Republicans of Benton county, at Corvallis last Wednesday evening was largely attended and much enthusiasm was exhibited Speeches were made by Messrs Applegate Herman, Dr Bayley, Mr Meacham, Gen Palmer and others

The Gazette says the newly finished Christian Church house at Harrisburg Linn county was opened for the worship of God April 3d [illegible] Day) Dedication services by Elder [illegible] Murphy, of Monmouth pastor who protracted the meeting until the Saturday following Thirty nine came forward during the meeting to take memberships

The Republican says A man named Armstrong has brought suit in the Circuit Court of Marion county against Drs Carpenter & Payton for $[illegible] 000 damages for alleged malpractice In August, 1868 Mr Armstrong got his arm broken by being caught in some of the belting in the Salem Flouring Mills He employed Drs Carpenter & Payton to attend to his case The arm united but in a deformed state

In February last, a man found rich silver in [illegible] on the land of Mr Faulkner, near Sheridan, in Yamhill county He had some of the ore assayed and the result shows it to be rich in silver The discoverer kept his secret for some time, hoping to find a method for obtaining an interest in the lead as Mr Faulkner had a U S patent for the land but finding that the title was vested in Mr F he, on Thursday last, informed the lucky landlord of the discovery Mr F at once gave a discovery claim to the finder and an other interest in the ledge The whole country thereabouts was staked off on Friday, and the mining excitement is running high The line of the McMinnville canal runs within a few yards of the ledge

The Roseburg Ensign has the following The case of G B Van Riper, a homestead claimant, against R M Hutchinson a Donation claimant has recently been decided by the Commissioner of the General Land Office in favor of Mr Van Riper It appears that Mr Hutchinson was a resident of Oregon in the summer of 1850, and returned to Iowa, with the intention of bringing his family to Oregon, He remained in Iowa till 1854, and exercised the rights of a citizen in that State during his stay On his return to Oregon in 1855, he claimed a section of land, under the provisions of the Donation Act, and as the law under which he claimed expired in December, 1850, he was compelled to rely upon his former residence in the summer of 1850. The Commissioner of the General Land Office decided that having lost his residence, he could not on return ing, claim land by virtue of his first residence

REPUBLICAN PLATFORM.

The Union Republican party of Oregon, in Convention, makes this declaration of its principles and policy

1st. Unfaltering devotion to the Union, first, last, and forever, and unwavering fidelity to the Constitution and its amendments and to the laws of our National Legislature

2d We wholly approve the principles and policy of the administration of President Grant, as carrying into practical application the principles for which we have successfully striven And we particularly commend these points in his Inaugural Address, wherein he declares—"let it be understood that no repudiator of one farthing of our public debt will be trusted in public places, and it will go far towards strengthening a credit which ought to be the best in the world," and "I would protect the law abiding citizen, whether of native or foreign birth, wherever his rights are prejudiced or the flag of our country floats," and "I will have no policy to enforce against the will of the people"

3d. We have confidence that the Administration will wisely and firmly protect the interests and sustain the dignity of the Nation in respect to other nations, and especially with regard to our just claims against Great Britain.

4th. We denounce all forms of repudiation as a national crime,—and the national honor requires the payment of the public indebtedness in the uttermost good faith to all creditors at home or abroad, not only according to the letter, but the spirit of the laws under which it was contracted. And for this purpose, we favor a strict economy in the Administration of the National Government, and the application to such payment of all surplus revenue, from whatever sources derived and that taxation should be equalized and reduced as rapidly as the national faith will permit

5th We make no distinction between citizens, whether of foreign or native birth, and that we sympathise now and ever with men of all nationalities striving for self government

6th That we are opposed to any change in our naturalization laws which shall admit to citizenship any foreigners not now entitled thereto under said laws

7th We favor a judicious system of railroad and river improvements in Oregon in order to develop our resources and invite settlement of our unoccupied territory—and for this purpose insist that Congress should make us liberal grants of aid

8th We are in favor of a tariff for revenue, with such discriminations in favor of our domestic manufactures as will not diminish its efficiency for the purposes of revenue.

9th We favor universal amnesty to the people of those States lately in rebellion, which have been restored to full relations in the Union

10th. We are in favor of fostering the cause of education, and are opposed to any diversion of the common school funds of this State to any other purpose than the support of common schools

11th We recognize in the Union Republican party the measures and men who saved the Government from destruction, and that its continuance in power is the only sure safeguard to national peace and prosperity And with this platform we appeal to the voters of Oregon for their suffrages and support

MULTNOMAH COUNTY CONVENTION

The Union Republican voters of Multnomah county are requested to meet at the usual places of voting in their respective precincts on Saturday, the 23d day of April 1870 at one o clock P M and choose delegates to attend a County Convention to be held at the Court House in Portland, on the 30th day of April, 1870, at 10 o'clock A M, for the purpose of nominating a Legislative and County ticket, and appointing a County Central Committee for the ensuing two years

The precincts will be entitled to delegates in the County Convention as follows

Central 11, East Portland, 6 Fulton 3 Multnomah 1, North Portland, 6 Powell's Valley 1 Sandy, 4 Sauvie's Island, 1; South Portland 14 St Johns 2; Wallamet 2 Washington 11

The recent changes of precinct lines will not be observed in holding the primaries

Our River and its Name.

PORTLAND, April 16, 1870.

EDITOR OREGONIAN:

It will be remembered that in the OREGONIAN of the 11th ult., I made some remarks on the subject of "Our River and its Name." I said that there did not now appear to be any uniformity, even among educated persons, as to the orthography and orthoepy of the name Wallamet. I proceeded to give some reasons for spelling it as I have here, and I expressed the opinion that it should have a half accent upon the first syllable and a full accent upon the second—the last being unaccented.

The Hon. William Strong replied in the Herald of the 13th ult., in which he expressed the opinion that the true name is Willamette, derived, as he thought, from the French, meaning Little William's river. My friend had not, indeed, a single fact to warrant any such remarkable opinion, and he does not profess to have. But in the absence of resources for an emergency, a great mind will create them, and the Judge, always fertile in expedients, at once proved that he was equal to even this occasion when he drew upon his imagination and sought to substitute fiction for historical facts by endeavoring to interest and amuse his readers with a "beautiful legend" as to the origin of the name. It would seem that three Canadian settlers from the arid and sandy interior, settled upon the banks of the river with their three wives and three little boys, each of whose name was William. That these three interesting little boys were accustomed to play "in the beautiful placid waters" before nameless, but which from thence became known as Little Williams' River, etc. Although the story makes a very pretty romance, and does great credit to Judge Strong's inventive genius as a writer of fiction, yet I think I will not tell it all now as it is not necessary to my purpose. A fiction, in law, is an assumption made of what is not literally true, for the purpose of passing more rapidly over those parts of the subject which are not disputed, and arriving at the points really at issue. A literary fiction is that which is feigned, invented or imagined. For example, the Judge's little story respecting the three Williams is fiction, has no place in history and was found nowhere but in his imagination, until he gave it to the Herald.

I believe that when a writer does not intend to caricature or satirize, he must not, when inventing a story, embody a supposed fact that contradicts a known and existing fact. But that part of the legend which makes the river to be without a name, when the three boys commenced playing in it, is contradicted by the facts of history, as any one may see who will take the pains to examine the old maps which usually accompany the printed volumes of Lewis and Clark's exploring expedition, made long before the three Canadian settlers brought their wives and Little Williams to the "beautiful placid waters" of the Multnomah, by which the map I have spoken of designates the river in its whole course. It will thus be seen that the river which flows through the legend of my friend Judge Strong was Multnomah, or the more named river.

The story, then, respecting these three little boys, however beautiful (I mean the story, and not the boys, of course), can possess no value as giving the origin of the name of the river, because it is contradicted by the known facts of history, and goes not, therefore, "beyond the time whereof the memory of man runneth not to the contrary."

Judge Strong expresses the opinion that there is no authority for affirming that the word Wallamet is an Indian name, and he thinks that the orthography and orthoepy for which I insist is in bad taste.

As to "de gustibus, non disputandum." But as to the other, I believe that it can be shown, both from authority and by a comparison with other names admitted to be of Indian origin, to be as I affirm.

The late Dr. John McLoughlin came to this country in 1824 (or not far from that time), and as Chief Factor of the Hudson's Bay Company west of the Rocky Mountains established Fort Vancouver, continuing his connection with that company until, I think, 1845. In the autumn of 1849 the writer applied to him for information as to the orthography and orthoepy of the name in question. He at once replied that the name was of Indian origin, being applied to the river by the natives when he first came to the country; that as spoken by them it would be spelled Wallamet, a half accent on the first syllable, a full one on the second, the last not being accented. And he placed in my hands some old Congressional documents which I still have, in which the name occurs several times, always being spelled Wallamet. He remarked that the final "te" ought to be dropped as superfluous, and calculated to mislead. At the same time he said that [illegible] of spelling it had not been uniform, he frequently spelling it Willamet, or Willamette, as possibly being a little more euphonious, but that Wallamet was the correct mode of representing the word as spoken by the Indians when he first came to the country.

Judge Strong, with me, adopts the opinion expressed by Dr. McLoughlin, that however the first syllable be spelled and accented, the final "te" should be dropped, wherever that has hitherto been employed in spelling the word. And in this I believe all, or nearly all, are agreed; the difference of opinion being as to whether the first syllable shall be spelled "Wal" or "Wil." I shall therefore confine myself to remarking upon the [illegible] of the first syllable.

Dr. William C. McKay, in a letter recently addressed to me, says that he was born at Astoria in 1824; that he has been an inhabitant of Oregon ever since, with the exception of the time spent abroad in obtaining an education. That his father came to the country in 1811, and that he [illegible] his father say that the name Wallamet was purely Indian name, by which the river was known when he first saw it. He also says that he has never heard an Indian speak the name in any other manner than with a half accent on the first syllable, a full accent on the second syllable, the last not being accented—the a in the first syllable being slightly sounded. "The old and first occupants of the country (including Dr. McLoughlin) so pronounced the word—the only want of uniformity being in the orthography, some spelling it in one way and some in another, and the same person spelling it different ways at different times."

Mr. F. X. Mathieu, residing near Butteville, came to this country, I believe, in 1841. Although this well-known gentleman is of French extraction, he not only does not recognize a French origin of the name Wallamet, but his statements substantially correspond with those made by Dr. McKay as to the Indian origin of the name and its orthography and orthoepy. He said that he had often heard [illegible] and Etienne Lucier so express themselves. The latter having come to this country with Wilson Hunt's expedition, had unusually good opportunities for obtaining correct information upon the subject.

Rev. Josiah L. Parrish, who came to this country in 1840 as a missionary to the Oregon Indians, expressed to the writer the opinion that the name has an Indian origin, and he fully concurs with the writer as to the orthography and orthoepy of the name. It is hardly necessary to add that he is President of the Board of Trustees of the Wallamet University.

The Rev. A. F. Waller came to this country in the same year as a missionary. In a letter under date of March 22d, he says: "In reply to your inquiry relative to the pronunciation by the Indians of the name of our valley and river, I have to say that on my arrival in Oregon, I especially interested myself in acquiring from the Indians their pronunciation of the names of persons, places, rivers, &c. Their pronunciation of the name of our valley and river was Wallamet. This I found to be the pronunciation by the Indians at the Dalles of the Columbia and elsewhere. I have spelled the word Wallamette, the final 'te' not sounded but pronounced as if spelled Wallamet—the principal accent being on the second syllable."

A comparison of the name Wallamet with other names known to have an Indian origin, will itself be almost conclusive evidence that it too has an Indian origin.

There are several streams on this coast having "lamet" for a termination. Among these I may mention the Wa-lamet or Wallamet, the Calamet (corrupted to Kalama by the surveyors, and so set down on their maps) Cathlamet, and Klamet, corrupted to Klamath. It has been believed, with much apparent reason that the Wa, the Ca and the Cath are Indian prefixes, as Che evidently is in Chehalis, Chepilala, Chehultapa and Chewockita. Calamet, it is said by old Indians, meant stone, and it is believed to have been suggested as the name of the river by the fact that it has a stoney bed along the whole of its known course. No or none, commonly pronounced wake, is wa-ik, and this wa as a prefix to "lamet" would signify no stone, and would answer to the general description of the Wallamet or Wallamet. (I confess I prefer Walamet as being probably the true orthography, and the orthoepy would not be different the accents being placed on this name as in Wallamet.)

Cath can only be guessed at, and I forbear to indulge in conjectures or to offer "a beautiful legend" when the facts of history fail me.

Nor is this method of reasoning with a view to the end sought fallacious. We apply the same method when seeking to discover the origin of the pagan deities. We find that Diana is the goddess of hunting. What quality, then, is most necessary for a hunter? What quality would ensure men, destitute of the weapons which we possess, most valuable useful in obtaining subsistence? Doubtless courage and swiftness? Thus we arrive at substantial reasons for believing that Diana is the Celtic dan or dian, which, signifies bold, strong, vehement, impetuous, the root of Danube, Don, and other names of large rivers.

A reference to other Indian names, as Wallawalla, Wascopum, Wasco, Waiatu, Waiilatpu, Molalla, Clalam, Klickatat and others that might be named will show that a is sounded broad as in are, and if for the sake of a more than doubtful euphony, we are authorized to change Wallamet to Willamette, we have the same liberty to change Wallawalla to Willawilla, and so of the rest.

Judge Strong cites several authors as evidence of an early usage, in proof of his affirmation that Willamette or Willamet is the correct orthography. And to begin with the least, he refers to my work in two volumes entitled "Oregon and California in 1848." And he says that I spelled the name Willamette. That is true. It is also true that I spelled it Wilhamette in the same work, thus showing that I did not know how to spell it. Indeed, I had been in the country less than a year when I commenced my return to the East; and it had not occurred to me to ascertain the correct orthography. It is only a fool who never admits the he was in error; and only the incorrigibly wicked who never confess a fault. I was wrong then. I have learned better since, and I am now laboring to teach the Judge. But I think he is a little slow.

The reference made by Judge Strong to the printed archives of the Provincial Government of Oregon prove nothing, and is indeed begging the question, because the gentleman whose duty it was to compile and publish them gave no heed to the orthography of names as he found it, but made their orthography to correspond with his ideas of euphony which he compared with some standard that another compiler might and probably would reject.

Washington Irving, in his Astoria, employs W-a-l in spelling the name and in a note (page 100) he informs his readers that the principal accent is on the second syllable.

The writer has been informed that the Rev. Jason Lee, who in 1834 came as the first missionary to Oregon, in all his letters addressed to the missionary board at New York, employed W-a-l in his orthography of the name of this valley and river. I have indeed in my possession that which I regard as conclusive proof of the fact—the copy of a letter printed among Congressional documents, written January 22, 1842, by the late Dr. Thomas E. Bond, Secretary of the Board, addressed to the Hon. Mr. Goode, giving to him information as to the number and location of the Methodist Mission Stations in Oregon. In his orthography of the name of the Wallamet valley he uses W-a-l. Now it is not conceivable that an officer of the board would spell the name in any other way than that indicated by Mr. Lee when writing letters from the field of his labors.

Capt. Wyeth, who in 1832 led a large party across the plains and established a trading post where St. Helens now stands, in a memoir to Congress uses W-a-l in spelling the name of the river and valley.

Hall J. Kelly, an explorer of 1834, in his memoir to Congress, employs the same letters for the same purpose.

The Rev. Mr. Beaver, Chaplain of Fort Vancouver in 1836, employs the same orthography in a letter to the committee of the Aborigines Protection Society, in a work published in London in 1849 by Mr. Fitzgerald, the subject of the book being Vancouver Island and the Hudson Bay Company.

W. A. Slocum, of the United States Navy, under date of January 17, 1838, uses the letters W-a-l in spelling the name of the river while writing to the Rev. Jason Lee from on board the American brig Loriot, lying off the Wallamet.

Messrs. Young & Carmichael employ the same orthography W-a-l in a letter written by them January 13th, 1837, addressed to the Rev. Jason Lee, Daniel Lee, Cyrus Shephard and P. L. Edwards.

In the same old Congressional document mentioned as having been given to me by the late Dr. McLoughlin, are published extracts from the journal of Captain Spaulding, of the ship Lausanne, in the year 1841. In these extracts W-a-l are employed in spelling the name.

The same orthography governs in a letter written by Elijah White to the War Department, under date of January 27, 1842, and published among the Congressional documents.

In the Congressional documents already mentioned are extracts from the report of Lieutenant Wilkes to the Secretary of the Navy, and communicated to the Military Committee by Mr. Wilkes with permission of the Secretary of the Navy, under an order dated January 24, 1843. In these extracts the same orthography—W-a-l, is adhered to.

In 1850, Rev. Gustavus Hines published a work entitled "Oregon—Its History, Condition and Prospects," in which he gives his readers an historical sketch of the various measures adopted by the people of the Wallamet Valley, from time to time, in developing and finally in establishing a constitution and laws for regular civil government. One of these meetings was held on the 17th and 18th of February, 1841, at the Methodist Mission premises, and was attended by nearly every male inhabitant of full age south of the Columbia, and among them Rev. Jason Lee.

This meeting, after transacting considerable business, adjourned to meet in June. It met June 11, 1841, at the new building near the Roman Catholic Church.

This latter meeting adjourned to meet at the Methodist Mission on the first Thursday in October. Another meeting was held on the 2d of May, 1843, at Champoeg. Another on the 5th of July, 1843, at the same place. In these historical notices of the proceedings for establishing government, the early Missionaries all attending, and really controlling the movement, the same orthography—W-a-l, is followed wherever the name of Wallamet valley is used.

I have not access to Fremont's narrative, but I believe I am not mistaken when I affirm that his orthography of the word is Wahlamet. This would indicate that he was in error as to orthography, but nearly correct as to orthoepy.

Wm. H. Gray, who was one of the very early Missionaries to Oregon, in his recently published history of Oregon, follows the orthography and orthoepy I have indicated. Mrs. Victor, in her "Great River of the West," just issued, likewise spells it W-a-l-l-a-m-e-t.

Lastly, the writer when about to prepare a charter for the Wallamet University, was informed upon consultation with early Missionaries that the orthography was as I have indicated; and by only that name can the Wallamet University be known in law.

In conclusion I repeat that which there is even among educated gentlemen a very undesirable want of uniformity in opinion and practice, as to the manner of spelling the name in question; yet, I believe that I have shown from analogy to known Indian words, and from the best early usage that the name of our valley should be spelled as I have here spelled it.

FINANCE AND COMMERCE.

PORTLAND, April 15th, 1870.

Portland Legal Tender rates, 85 @86.

The business of the day has been to some extent indicative of increasing activity, and we may look for the opening of the spring trade immediately. Many of our merchants have their stores well stocked, and are ready to fill orders to any extent. The general average of prices is perhaps below that of any former season.

The transition state of the markets on this coast, brought about by the construction of the overland railroad, and the consequent accelerated movements in commercial matters, will be more clearly seen and felt in Portland this spring than hitherto. When we have passed through this we may look for the business of the country to become more settled in all respects, and our commercial interests placed upon a new and more stable foundation.

Prices remain unchanged from our last report. Supplies of imported articles are fully up to the demand and a fair season's trade will leave dealers in a prosperous condition. At this day in our commercial history enormous profits are much less anticipated than was the case a few years back. Gradual but substantial gains are becoming more consistent with the habits and hopes of our business men.

Agricultural.

From the interior counties in the valley we learn that the activity in agricultural matters is growing, and that the breadth of land sown to spring crops will be much in excess of former years. This, in addition to the fact that a larger number of acres of wheat, by one third at least, was sown last fall than ever before in Oregon, and the present favorable prospect for crops of all kinds in our State, warrant the prediction that a prosperous year is ahead of us, in an agricultural point of view. The trade in agricultural implements is becoming more lively and dealers in this city are supplied with the latest and best patterns of all machinery used in farming, and farmers are taking advantage of these aids in conducting their business, with successful and profitable results.

Produce Receipts.

The produce receipts at this city yesterday were as follows: 5,760 sks Flour, 40 boxes Eggs, 45 sks Feed, 48 bbls Meat, 27 sks Bacon, 2 kegs Lard, 5 kegs Butter, 9 half bbls Fruit, 15 boxes Apples, 108 sks Potatoes, 140 sks Middlings, 100 sks Bran, 7 Beef Hides, 30 Sheep Pelts.

The Trade of San Francisco.

The following is a summary of the Bulletin's quarterly review of the trade and commerce of San Francisco for the three months ending March 31: Foreign imports for the quarter, from $3,500,000 to $4,000,000, exclusive of freights, charges and duties, the sum for the last named object amounting to nearly $1,500,000. The free goods received from New York across the Isthmus show a further expenditure of $4,211,000. In addition were received 53,000 tons of assorted freight from New York, Boston, Baltimore and other Eastern ports by sailing vessels of which we have no means of ascertaining the value; besides large quantities of goods came to hand across the continent and from domestic Pacific coast ports. Marine arrivals embraced 683 vessels of 248,302 tons of tonnage. The freight money paid on cargoes from domestic Atlantic and foreign ports was $1,158,000, about equally divided between currency and gold. Inward bound fleet on the 1st instant numbered 116 vessels, including only 25 from domestic Atlantic ports, against 60 from those sources at this date last year. The exports for the quarter consisted of $3,324,000 merchandise, and $10,251,200 treasure. Included in the latter amount was $4,083,000 Gold coin and and $1,053,000 Mexican coin. The number of vessels fixed for long voyage business was 133, representing 94,400 tons of tonnage. The San Francisco Mint furnished $4,760,000 in coin, of which $80,000 was Silver and the balance Gold. The dividends paid by local incorporations amounted to $2,553,000, including $1,322,000 by the Savings Banks of the city. The amount disbursed for army purposes for the Division of the Pacific was $2,072,500. The Internal Revenue collected in the San Francisco District was $686,800. The treasure receipts through public channels were $11,741,400, of which $9,537,000 was from California and Nevada. The sales of real estate netted $3,620,000. The exports of Flour and Wheat for the quarter were equal to 974,000 centals Wheat, valued at $1,621,600, while for the first nine months of the harvest year the quantity exported was equal to 5,197,030 centals Wheat. Nearly 1,000,000 lbs Wool was shipped during the quarter; also 104,000 gallons and 1,200 cs California Wine.

TO THE UNFORTUNATE.

NEW REMEDIES, NEW REMEDIES

Dr. Gibbon's Dispensary,

623 KEARNEY STREET, NEAR COMMERCIAL, San Francisco. Established in 1854, for the treatment of Sexual and Seminal Diseases, such as Gonorrhoea, Gleet, Stricture, Syphilis in all its forms, Seminal Weakness, Impotency, etc. Skin Diseases (of years standing) and Ulcerated Legs successfully treated.

Horrible Disease.

How many thousands of persons, both male and female, are there who are suffering out a miserable existence from the effects of secret indulgence, or from virus absorbed into the system! Look at their pallid, emaciated and disfigured faces and their broken-down constitutions, disqualifying them for the happiness of marriage or the enjoyment of life. In this horrid situation thousands suffer until death closes the scene. Let parents, guardians, friends, attend to those who are suffering with any of these horrible life-destroying maladies—that they are cured for and cured before it be too late. Send them immediately to Doctor Gibbon, a physician who has made private diseases his especial study for years, and who is certain to cure the most inveterate cases without mercury or any injurious drugs. It is important to those who are afflicted, or to those who are interested in the welfare of their friends, to be careful of the many pretended doctors who infest all cities, publishing their skill in curing all diseases in a few days, imposing upon the public by using the names of eminent physicians from Europe and other places. Be therefore careful and make strict inquiry, or you may fall into the hands of charlatans.

Seminal Weakness.

Seminal Emissions, the consequence of [illegible] solitary vice, or depraved sexual indulgence, is practiced by the youth of both sexes to an alarming extent, producing, with unerring certainty, the following train of morbid symptoms, unless combatted by [illegible] medical measures, viz: Sallow countenance, dark spots under the eyes, pain in the head, ringing in the ears, noise like the rustling of leaves and rattling of chariots, [illegible] about the loins, weakness of the limbs, [illegible] blunted intellect, loss of confidence, diffidence in approaching strangers, a dislike to form new acquaintances, a disposition to shun society, loss of memory, [illegible] flushes, pimples and various eruptions about the face, [illegible], tongue, fetid breath, coughs, consumption, night sweats, monomania and frequently insanity. If relief be not obtained should apply immediately, either in person or by letter, and have a cure effected by his new and scientific mode of treating this disease, which never fails of effecting a quick and radical cure. Dr. G. will give One Hundred Dollars to any person who will prove [illegible] rily to him that he was cured [illegible] of the San Francisco quacks.

MARRIED MEN,

Or those who contemplate marriage, who are suffering under any of these fearful maladies, should not [illegible] of the [illegible] responsibility resting upon them nor delay obtain immediate relief.

DOCTOR GIBBON is responsible, and will give to patients a written instrument, binding himself to effect a radical and permanent cure, or make no charge.

CURED AT HOME.

Persons at a distance may be CURED AT HOME, by addressing a letter to Dr. Gibbon, stating [illegible] symptoms, length of time the disease has continued, and have medicines promptly forwarded, free from damage and curiosity, to any part of the country, with full and plain directions for use, for Ten Dollars, sent in registered letter or through Wells, Fargo & Co.

Caution to the Unfortunate.

Beware of the San Francisco quacks and pretenders who, with bogus sworn-to certificates, dupe the unwary. Some of the self-styled doctors, whose names are to be found in the daily and weekly newspapers of San Francisco and other places, are tradesmen, and became too lazy to work at their trades. Some are tinsmiths, shoemakers, newspaper carriers, intelligence office keepers, etc. Look over the San Francisco Directory, and you will not find their Medical Institutes in it, but you will find their former occupations in it. Look at the Directory for 1862 and 1865. The only way to avoid imposition is to make enquiry—it will cost you nothing, and may save you many regrets; for, as advertising physicians, in eight cases out of ten, are bogus, there is no safety in trusting any of them until you know who and what they are. Dr. Gibbon does not deceive people by exhibiting bogus titles, certificates, pretended patient's letters, etc. Dr. Gibbon will satisfy persons who may call at his office of his ability to treat diseases that he proposes to cure.

Address DR. J. F. GIBBON, 623 Kearney street, corner Commercial, (Private Entrance on Commercial) San Francisco. Post Office Box 285.

REMEMBER TO PUT BOX 285 ON THE LETTER.

IN THE CIRCUIT COURT of the State of Oregon, for the county of Multnomah.—[illegible] vs. Luther Cary defendant.—Original [illegible]

To Luther Cary, the defendant [illegible] of the State of Oregon: You are hereby required to be and appear in the said Circuit Court of the State of Oregon and county of Multnomah and answer the complaint filed against you in the above entitled suit, [illegible] whether you are herein served, within ten days from the date of the service thereof and of this summons upon you if served within said county of Multnomah; if served within any other county in said State of Oregon then within twenty days from the date of the service of said complaint and of this summons upon you; and you are hereby notified that an order has been duly made by the court for the service of said [illegible] service of this summons upon you, by publication of the summons for a period of six weeks, once each week, and first publication thereof, and that you are further required to appear and answer said complaint by the first day of the term of said court following the expiration of the said six weeks, prescribed in said order for the publication of this summons, which said term commences on the 13th day of June (2d Monday) A. D. 1870. And you are further notified that if you neglect to answer said complaint as herein and by law required and specified, then, in case of your failure to appear and answer said complaint, as by this summons required, for want thereof the said plaintiff will take judgment against you for the costs and disbursements of said suit and will apply to the court for the relief prayed for in said complaint, which relief consists of a decree of divorce from the bonds of matrimony between you and said plaintiff, and the custody of the minor children, the issue of said marriage, and alimony for the settlement of all rights of property between you and said plaintiff, and further support and maintenance of plaintiff and said children, and for such other or further relief as to said court may seem meet in equity and good conscience.
